Session 1 9:45 am – 10:30 am

Finding the Right Assistive Technology for All	706 William McKinley
Ted Klopp – Westminster Technologies, Inc.

Choosing the right assistive technology for an individual can be overwhelming. This session reviews a variety of Assistive Technology devices that are currently being used across the country. It will also defuse many myths that influence decisions on technology. A hands-on approach with specific activities and anecdotal evidence will be presented. Attendees will also be encouraged to brainstorm activities particular to the needs of their client base. Time will be set aside for questions on these and other Assistive Technologies.

Student Access to Jaws, MAGic, and Portable Video Magnifiers through APH Quota Funds	705 Rutherford B. Hayes
Michael Wood - VFO

Attendees will learn about the latest versions of JAWS (Job Access With Speech) software, MAGic (screen magnification) software and the Video Mag HD handheld video magnifier that are now being offered by the American Printing House for the Blind. These items are available for purchase with Quota Funds. We will also cover free Training Materials for students and VI teachers to consider and TypeAbility designed to teach typing and Windows keyboarding.

Let's Talk! A PRC Products and Services Demo	704 William Harrison
Elyse Pycraft – Prentke Romich Company

This session will provide an overview of our history at PRC and the services we currently provide for those who cannot speak, as well as information on what our guiding principles are (word based vocabulary programs, heavy field support, inclusive access solutions for those with mild-severe physical limitations). Updates to our vocabulary systems and software will also be shared.

Session 2 10:45 – 11:30 am

New Apps for Unique Populations

RJ Cooper – RJ Cooper & Associates, Inc.

706 William
McKinley

RJ Cooper, one of the pioneers of AT, will be showing his new apps/websites that address seniors with dementia, and persons w/cognitive delays using population-specific email client.

Introducing the AT & AEM Center Resources

Heather Bridgman and Rachel Schultz – AT & AEM Center

705 Rutherford
B. Hayes

Many students benefit from accessible educational materials (AEM). Students with print disabilities often qualify for free resources or funding in order to obtain the materials and equipment they need to successfully access the curriculum and school environments. Join Rachel Schultz and Heather Bridgman to learn more about accessible educational materials from the AT & AEM Center powered by OCALI. SIFTS (Student Inventory for Technology Support), an online feature-matching tool, will also be demonstrated. With one of your students in mind or with a provided case study, participants will step through the SIFTS survey answering questions about their student's strengths, challenges, environments and tasks to obtain a list of potential AT features that could then be trialed during the next phase of the AT assessment process. Participants are encouraged to BYOD to explore the AT & AEM Center website and SIFTS.

Unlocking Potential of Your Student and Create Life Long Learners

Christine Doody – Kurzweil Education

704 William
Harrison

Kurzweil+firefly is educational technology that brings all pieces of the literacy puzzle together with one easy, proven solution to ensure instruction and learning become personal — and meaningful progress becomes possible. Provide access to your curricula with a powerful, multisensory approach to learning. Explore the features that allow learners to READ, COMPREHEND & DEMONSTRATE knowledge independently.

Session 3 12:50 pm – 1:35 pm

Getting to Know Saltillo’s Chat Software	706 William McKinley
Cecilia Marietti – Saltillo Corporation

This presentation will explore vocabulary files that are available with Chat Software on Saltillo devices (i.e. NOVA chat and Chat Fusion). Participants will explore vocabulary options and learn basic programming skills to customize a client’s file. Participants will be provided with “hands-on” time to learn and customize vocabulary files. Implementation tips and ideas will also be shared.

Review of AT Devices for Students with Disabilities	705 Rutherford B. Hayes
Tiehan Liu – Ohio Job Connection

Tiehan Liu from Ohio Job Connection will review AT devices that might be used by students with disabilities. He will discuss the wide variety of services and resources available for individuals with disabilities who are entering the workforce.

Assisting You with Assistive Technology: Free Resources to Help You with AT	704 William Harrison
Jamison Hensley – AbleNet, Inc.

This session will help you become familiar with and understand how to take advantage of many free AT resources.

Session 4 1:50 pm – 2:35 pm

GoTalk NOW, Lite, and on the Go!	706 William McKinley
John Sajdak – Attainment Company, Inc.

The GoTalk NOW combines the simplicity of GoTalks with the dynamic capabilities of an iPad. GoTalk NOW has all the essentials of an effective AAC app, like adjustable page layouts, customizable navigation, recorded and text-to-speech capabilities, and an included symbol set. The focus here is on the creation of unique and compelling features that unmistakably separate NOW from other apps. Check out the new GoTalk 9+ Lite Touch and our upcoming wearable product line!

Connectivity in the Classroom – Prodigy Connect 12	705 Rutherford B. Hayes
Julie Ney – Universal Low Vision Aids, Inc.

An integrated digital magnifier for the connected classroom. The newly redesigned Connect 12 combines a high-performance digital magnifier with the versatility of an Android tablet, plus unmatched ease of use and integrated access to online libraries such as Bookshare. This ideal solution for students with low vision allows free and open access to more than a million apps.

Essential Oil Support for Individuals with ASD, Families and Caregivers	704 William Harrison
Kay Duerst – doTERRA

We will address new studies explaining how vitally important it is to support the digestive system & brain connection for children on the spectrum. With school being the second home for the children, we will present effective oils and methods of use for classroom management to enhance the learning environment. Attendees will understand why the gut/ brain connection relates to individuals on the spectrum and how to use essential oils & products to support the body. Effective oils and methods of use for classroom management will also be presented. How essential oils support the emotional and physical health of families by reduction of toxic load and the behavioral symptoms associated with it will be explained.
